Situation Awareness Brief

Friday, August 10th 2018
As of 0900 CST

Tropical Weather Awareness

An area of disturbed weather is located about midway between Africa and the Lesser Antilles. Environmental conditions are expected to become conducive for some gradual development while the system moves slowly west over the next few days. By the middle of next week, stronger upper-level winds could limit the chance for further development.

* Formation chance through 48 hours...low...10 percent.

* Formation chance through 5 days...low...20 percent.
